

They say we need SOGI 123 because 19% of our students are LGBTQ but here are the true facts:

A young girl with brown hair in a ponytail, wearing a purple zip-up jacket, stands in front of a whiteboard. She is pointing her right index finger at a diagram on the board. The whiteboard contains three main sections: 'Gender Biology' at the top with a female symbol and a chromosome diagram; 'Gender Expression' in the middle with a stick figure and a chromosome diagram; and 'Gender Identity' at the bottom with a box containing the text 'I am female' and a chromosome diagram. The diagrams show chromosomes with various handwritten labels in different colors. The background includes a colorful poster on the left and a desk with art supplies.
